What is this catalogue?

This Musical Instruments Catalogue shows the types of appropriate instruments available to use in music sessions.

This catalogue is to help you think about which instruments would be useful in your sessions. It includes instruments which are appropriate for a variety of client groups. Your choice should be guided by the strengths and needs of the people you work with, as well as thinking about building a collection of instruments with diverse qualities.

In various places worldwide, there are some musical instruments that could be sourced locally or which are relevant to your local culture. These may also be very suitable to use in music sessions, so remember to also think about any instruments that are available where you are.

The musical instruments in this catalogue have been grouped by price. The category 1 instruments cost more than the category 2 instruments, which cost more than the category 3 instruments.
